Beach Improvements

Bay beach project out for bids | Waveland beach in board's hands

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis city officials are calling for bids on two long-awaited projects: renourishing the beachfront and restoring the old CSX depot.

In a report to City Council issued Tuesday, engineer William Mitchell said the beach project bid opening is set for 10 a.m., June 23.

The city recently received the final go-ahead to use a 21-acre borrow pit area north of the Highway 90 bridge as a sand source for the project.

The project, designed primarily to protect against further deterioration of the seawall, will extend a sand beach for some 5,000 feet in the non-marsh areas north of Bookter Street.

The city had hoped to have the project done by workers the county hired to replenish the beach from Washington Street southward last spring. However, a series of setbacks has stalled the project until now.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers expects to open bids July 6 for a separate project to shore up the local seawall.

The upcoming Corps project concerns an 800-foot stretch of sheetpile bulkheading planned on North Beach Boulevard, some 2.7 miles north of the Highway 90 bridge.

Two other seawall protection projects are in progress, including work to fortify the seawall in Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

And officials have almost

The possible future of a beach parking lot in Waveland lay in the hands of the Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday night.

The board was scheduled to vote on a resolution endorsing the Hancock County Board of Supervisors' plan to build a 69-space parking lot between Coleman Avenue and Terrace Lane. At press time, the vote had not been taken.

If the board delays action too long, the project runs the risk of being scrapped, according to engineer William Mitchell.

Mitchell told the board at a workshop Monday that action must be taken soon to assure county funds will be available. Mitchell said funds may be soon running short because of the Bay St. Louis project getting the go-ahead the cleanup costs

Entertainer in scuffle with police

BY RICHARD MEEK
Entertainer Merle Haggard was involved in a brief altercation with Waveland police Tuesday afternoon, but was not arrested, according to a news release from city attorney Lucien Gex.

Gex said through the release that "at about 1:45 p.m., a Waveland police officer was driving a police car in a supermarket parking lot. The officer observed an individual (Haggard) in jeans and tee shirt. When the officer looked at the individual he ran away from the officer and hid behind a bus in the parking lot."

Gex said the officer asked Haggard to identify himself, but the country and western entertainer allegedly refused to do so. Gex added that Haggard allegedly used "very strong language" directed at the officer.

He said other officers arrived and one of them recognized Haggard. According to Gex, once the performer was recognized, he was released. Gex did say Haggard was never cuffed

Quick thinking solves Bay cheerleader flap

BY RICHARD MEEK
Before a pom-pom could be raised in ire, Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Superintendent Paul Tisdale doused a potentially volatile situation involving Bay High School cheerleaders.

The flap centered around the school's recent selection of cheerleaders for the 1995-96 school year. According to Tisdale, the school followed a procedure from a proposed handbook for the new school year. However, since that handbook has not been officially adopted by the board, the old selection criteria should have been in effect, according to Tisdale.

The controversy left in limbo the status of the 12 cheerleaders previously selected. The board's initial decision was to throw out the entire process and begin over.

But as could be expected, parents voiced their objection, and a special board meeting was scheduled Tuesday. As the meeting began, and before the parents expressed their opinions, Tisdale proposed a solution "equitable to all."

He said the 12 cheerleaders already selected "should not be penalized" and should not be forced to try out again. Tisdale suggested tryouts to fill the remaining positions on the 15-member squad, with the stipulation that only those who tried out previously be eligible to try out again.

The board unanimously approved the proposal.

"All we ask is that the original 12 girls be allowed to stay on the squad," one parent said. "The error was not on the part of the girls."

The error apparently came in the selection criteria. School district officials said because of a "communication glitch," Bay High officials used the criteria from the proposed 1995-96 Athletic Handbook for Students. That handbook, which the board is currently considering adopting, calls for a reduction of the cheerleader squad from 16 to 12.

Additionally, the proposed criteria mandates "one member each" from grades 9-12 and eight members "selected overall."

Bay bugged by noise issue once again

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Stirred by complaints over a noisy beachfront party Saturday night, Bay St. Louis City Council made moves anew Tuesday to beef up its anti-noise weaponry.

Council asked its attorney to draft provisions to outlaw outdoor revelry past midnight. And they agreed to seek proposals from an expert on noise levels, possibly leading to a re-write of the municipal code's provisions.

Outdoor live entertainment sponsored Saturday night at Dan B's downtown prompted the furor this week at council meetings on Monday and Tuesday nights.

While the city had granted a permit for the partying to continue until 2 a.m., the permit required that the music be turned down at midnight. The permit also contained a revocation clause, which police could have used to stop the festivities.

Council member James Thriffliey said allowing outdoor festivities to continue until 2 a.m. invites potentially explosive behavior. "We're sitting on a powder keg if we don't get them under control," Thriffliey said, contending no outdoor event should be allowed to last more than four and a half hours.

There were complaints from residents of the Manor House Apartments, the nearby nursing home and other residents, said Thriffliey. He charged that the band's noise would lessen when police responded to the complaints, but would increase when police left.

Even Thriffliey himself was awakened by the "bump, bump" sounds that emanated from the party. Said Thriffliey: "I didn't appreciate it."

That the noise would be lowered when police appeared, and be raised when they left amounted to game-playing with the police, Thriffliey said.

He also complained that the city didn't crack down on open containers of alcohol, and said there was a good chance that some of the partying was being done by juveniles.

City officials acknowledged receiving a number of complaints about the noise, but said there was little more that they could do than was done.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said he didn't know how many complaints came into the police department about the music Saturday night and Sunday morning.

But, said the chief, unless the officer has a complaintant willing to sign an affidavit, the officer is in a precarious legal position making the decision that the noise is excessive.

City Attorney John Scafide agreed with that, and said the city needs to put specific standards in its code book. As it stands, the city code forbids "unnecessary and unusual" noise from amplifiers.

McNeil said the city is in a "Catch 22" situation, with its existing law and no way to enforce it.

"We're going to get out of that Catch 22 situation," Thriffliey

Bay shooting puts one in hospital

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
A suspect is being sought in a Thursday night shooting at the intersection of St. Francis and Sycamore streets, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil said.

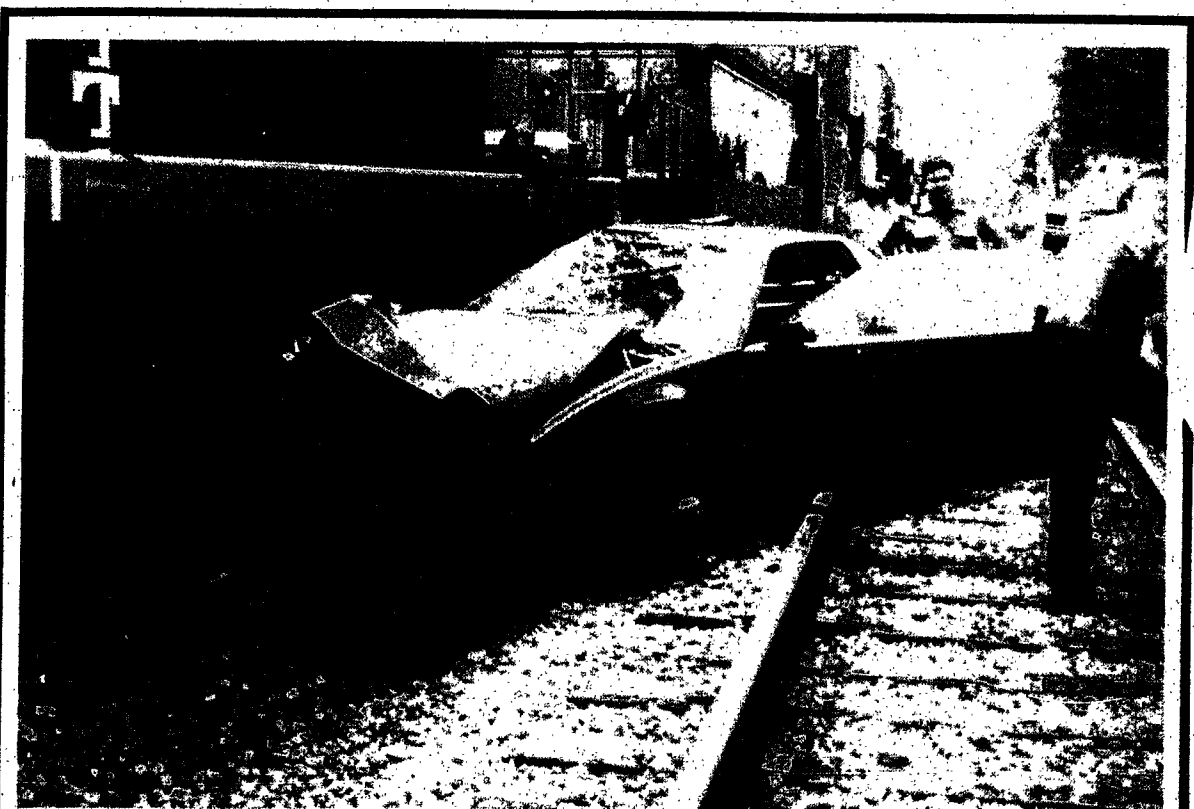

McNeil said, "Eric Williams, 23, of Bay St. Louis was standing in a crowd when a maroon vehicle stopped, a subject jumped out of the vehicle, fired three times into the crowd striking Williams each time."

The subject fired from an unknown type of a pistol, striking Williams in a foot, hip and thigh, McNeil said.

Williams, who was taken to Hancock Medical Center, was in an undetermined condition, McNeil said.

The shooting is being investigated by Lt. Tom Bursleson and Detective Sgt. Kurt Raymond.

The reason for the shooting is unknown, McNeil said.

Train-car collide

Bobby Benigno, 52, of Bay St. Louis sustained minor injuries when a CSX freight train collided with his Pontiac Saturday morning at the Ballentine Street crossing, Police Chief Frank McNeil said. Bay Patrolman Matt Carver investigated the accident. Benigno was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center, treated and released. Responding to the accident were Bay Patrolman Carver, Sgt. Richard Hannah, Cliff Malley and Richard Fayard Jr. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

'CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This is the big weekend for St. Clare's Annual Seafood Festival, Beach Boulevard in Waveland. The festival begins Friday night with a fish fry from 5 to 11 p.m.

Seafood Festival hours are Saturday from noon until 11 p.m. and Sunday noon until 9 p.m.

All types of seafood will be available, such favorites as gumbo, shrimp bordelaise, shrimp-on-a-stick, boiled seafood, etc. Regulars, such as hot dogs, hamburgers and po-boys will be available, too.

Festival activities include a white elephant booth, kiddyland, space walk, hayride, games, raffles, entertainment, craft booths and rides.

St. Clare's parishioners have been preparing for some time for the annual Seafood Festival and are hoping to make this year's the best ever.

Admission is free.

I hope to see you at the festival this weekend.

I know I am belaboring the flood last week, but there is one group of officers whom we may not have given proper appreciation.

I am talking about the Mississippi Department of Wildlife officers, of which as many as eight were on duty from early Tuesday morning through Sunday evening.

These officers, who many of you know as game wardens, did a tremendous job in helping with the rescue of persons in the flooded areas of the Jourdan River and the Hickory Creek areas.

For four nights, not to mention the days, these officers patrolled the rivers, bayous and creeks protecting property from looters.

Some of the officers, who are regulars in this county, doubled up working many shifts.

I have also been told the Salvation Army, as always, really responded to the needs of those who have suffered water damages.

The Salvation Army came in with cleaning supplies, food and water and, as always, asked few questions.

The members of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department did more than their share in helping during the crisis.

Kentwood supplied one full truck load of gallon jugs of water for the victims to use.

Thought you would like to know some others who helped us during our crisis.

Coming May 27-28 will be the Krewe of Nereids Annual Fresh & Saltwater Fishing Tournament.

There will be a pre-tournament kick-off party and crawfish boil May 26 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

There is an entry fee of $30, and entry forms are available at Lil' Ray's or Daddy O's.

I spoke to several fishermen who participated in last year's event, and they said they had a wonderful time.

For those of you who may not know it, the Krewe of Nereids is the Mardi Gras group that brings a wonderful parade two Sundays before Fat Tuesday each year.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's production of The Foreigner is scheduled for Friday and Saturday with curtain time at 8 p.m.

The Larry Shue comedy is under the direction of Becky Rotundo and has a talented cast from reports I heard about last week's performances.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's Boardman Avenue Playhouse is located on Boardman Avenue off Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis. Direction signs are posted.

Mississippians rally to help flood victims

When an extremely violent weather system rolled into South Mississippi, no one ever imagined it would dump more than 20 inches of rain on the area.

But no matter how much the rain falls, the rivers flood or the wind blows, Mississippians always come through. If we didn't have seasoned emergency personnel or just good neighbors helping neighbors, I have no doubt it would have been a lot worse.

Because of the quick response of federal, state, county and city emergency personnel, many lives were saved. It is simply unbelievable that only minor injuries were reported after meteorologists considered the flooding the worst in 500 years.

As cleanup continues, federal, state and local agencies are in place to assist the thousands of people who experienced property and home damage. According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), teams of federal experts called Field Assessment Teams, are joining Mississippi state Damage Assessment Reconnaissance Teams and local governments to evaluate damage to South Mississippi. The teams will provide disaster assistance to support Mississippi's request for federal disaster aid.

The teams were already in Jackson practicing for emergencies associated with a mock hurricane. With so many seasoned emergency personnel already on call, it was only reasonable for them to cancel the mock hurricane drill and use their talents to assess the flood damage.

Those represented included such federal agencies as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Department of Transportation, Public Health Service, American Red Cross, Environmental Protection Agency, General Services Administration and FEMA.

Ever since the rivers began to rise I have been in contact with federal, state, county and city emergency personnel. I also contacted President Clinton to ask that he declare Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River counties federal disaster areas.

If anyone is in need of assistance or just needs a hand in finding a phone number, please do not hesitate calling one of my district offices. The toll-free number is 1-800-273-4363.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Realignment would lower state salaries

Representatives for state employees say state workers' salaries need to be "realigned" with workers' salaries in the private sector.

That's interesting. The average pay of state employees is already 8.5 percent higher than the average pay of Mississippians who work in the private sector.

That's right.

In a letter to Representative Charlie Capps of Cleveland, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, the executive director of the State Personnel Board reported that as of April 1994, the average annual salary for public employees with the Board system was $21,568. But the average annual salary of private-sector employees was $19,708.

So, based on the facts, a "realignment" would lower, not raise, the salaries of state employees.

Of course, that's not going to happen.

Instead, what the Mississippi Economic Council proposes, and has been proposing for years, is to lower the number of employees. That way, Mississippi could save money and comfortably raise salaries, when necessary. (By the way, such salary increases should be based on merit. They should NOT be handed out across the board with no regard for employee performance.)

Not only would quality state workers (and there are many) benefit, but business firms and private citizens would also benefit from lower taxes triggered by government savings. Perhaps, then, the average salaries of the private sector would increase as well.

By the way, the average salary for state workers has now risen to $22,900.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lady family expresses appreciation for help

To the Editor:

Words cannot adequately express our feelings of gratitude for the overwhelming outpouring of love, prayers and support we have received from all our friends and associates in the entire local and Coastal community during the difficult time following the unfortunate and tragic boating accident that occurred to Steve Lady Sunday, May 7.

As a result Steve has incurred many serious injuries, particularly the loss of his left leg.

Efforts to save his right leg have so far been successful, and he is slowly improving each day.

His attitude and determination have been remarkably positive and hopeful and have been an inspiration to the rest of the family.

Immediately following the accident, Steve was taken to Hancock Medical Center where he received extensive surgeries by an excellent team of physicians and dedicated professional care from the entire staff.

In all the time spent there, Steve and our family were treated with kind and unwavering solicitude and attention from the doctors, nurses, administrator, employees and volunteers.

We are very fortunate to have the Hancock Medical Center in our county. Unfortunately, sometimes it takes a personal experience to realize this fully.

It is imperative that all our local citizens upgrade their knowledge and opinions of this facility. The professional care and concern of their entire staff is nothing short of first rate.

Steve was moved recently to Gulfport Memorial Hospital only because it was deemed advisable by his physicians to receive the specialized treatment of the hyperbaric oxygen chamber to reduce the possibility of infection and improve the health of the injured tissues.

Steve continues to receive excellent care and attention by their staff as well.

We would especially like to express our warmest gratitude to the staffs of Casino Magic, Jubilee Casino, the American Red Cross, and all the volunteers who donated their time and efforts in organizing the blood drive for Steve held at Casino Magic Inn.

The response to this drive was overwhelming, and we extend our sincere appreciation to everyone who so willingly and readily donated blood.

The many expressions of concern and the numerous prayers offered for Steve helped us all immeasurably to cope with this tragedy.

Help came from many for Jourdan River Shores

Dear Editor,

God bless the beautiful people of Hancock County, Kiln and Jourdan River Shores.

I am a resident of Jourdan River Shores and my home is smack dab on the river. The house is built 16 feet above the ground, not above sea level, and water came within two feet of entering the house. Everything downstairs was devastated.

The care and love shown by the people was unbelievable. Everybody offered to help in whatever was needed. To start with the Hancock County Sheriff's office, Ronny Peterson's fine men patrolled the area during the flood and protected our property then stood guard when the water receded to make sure only the residents and authorized repair people entered the area.

We hadn't returned a half hour and Coast Electric was there to renew the service to my house, and within an hour South Central Bell restored my phone service.

Also within an hour a good citizen of Kiln delivered bottled water to my home compliments of the Salvation Army, who had a disaster van parked in the front with food and drinks for the residents. They also passed out clean-up kits free of charge.

The Kiln Volunteer Fire Department patrolled the street offering assistance where needed. They cleaned out drains and culverts with their hoses and got the standing water flowing.

Individual citizens with tractors offered assistance to everyone who needed it to clear the sand away that stood as high as five feet in places.

The Salvation Army as well as the American Red Cross maintained their vans to service the people the entire weekend with food, drink and cleaning supplies.

The spirit of the people on the whole was unbelievable. Anything washed up on property that didn't belong there was placed curbside for its rightful owner to claim.

The flood was bad, but it brought out the beauty in the people.

God bless the beautiful people of Hancock County, Kiln and Jourdan River Shores.

Sincerely,
Dan and June Bonin
Jourdan River Shores

Fire Marshal expresses appreciation for help

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to all the people who helped during the flood last week in Jourdan River Shores.

I had set up our command post at the scene of the flood for Civil Defense.

In all my 20 years in Hancock County I have never seen such a tragedy.

If it had not been for all the dedicated people working it could have been a lot worse.

I believe because of the efforts of all the people concerned we did not have any word of casualties or serious injuries.

I would like to thank Mr. Bourgeois at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center for opening up for people who had to evacuate and all the assistance he and his staff gave.

I would like to thank the Hancock County Sheriff's Department for their assistance in getting people out.

Also I would like to thank the Wildlife and Fisheries personnel for all their help in evacuation and, like the sheriff's department, in keeping looters and sightseers out of the area.

I would also like to thank the supervisors for getting the workers food and other things we needed, also the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

I would like to also thank all the fire departments and personnel who were there from start to finish: Leetown, Kiln, East Hancock, Bayside Park and West Hancock, who all had personnel come out and help us.

A big thanks needs to go out to the Kiln Fire Department who stayed in the area until Sunday evening to help anybody who needed help. Also I would like to thank Bay St. Louis and Waveland police departments for personnel and boats.

Also we had some private citizens who lent us a hand who need to be thanked also: George Sins, Dannis Sins, John Ropolo, Tommy Bordages, Stevie Haas, Mike Favre, T-Bone, Jackie DeLaughter and Tater Graham.

These people gave their time and effort to help us evacuate people and anything else they could do to help.

If I have left out anybody I am very sorry, and if you will contact me at 466-4709 I will be glad to let people know what you did for the people of Hancock County. Again, I would like to thank everybody for your assistance and dedication.

Also I would like to thank Allen and his wife of Ace Towing, who brought food to us, and also Jeff Reynolds who brought food also.

Sincerely Yours,
Richard Pate

Resident celebrates 100th birthday

Special to the Echo
Mrs. Mary B. Teeter of Hotel Reed Nursing Center celebrated her 100th birthday Wednesday, May 17.
Born May 17, 1895 to Charles Delos and Elizabeth Booth in the community of Lone Pine, Iowa, Mary was the first daughter born to the Booths, preceded by three brothers and followed by two sisters.
Mary, being the first girl born to the family, was eagerly taught the ways of farm living and would follow her father and brothers in all the farm chores.
When she was 10 the brothers were cleaning the barn but had only one wheelbarrow with which to move the cleanings, so Mary went to the trash pile and got a wheel from an old doll buggy or carriage. Then finding some long straight sticks or broom handles and an old wooden box, she fashioned her own "wheelbarrow" from these materials, some wire and nails, and could haul manure with the best of them.

When Mary was about 16 her mother, who had been ill a long time with asthma and other lung problems, heard about the good land and warm winters in Mississippi, so it was decided to move to that warm and land-rich state.
Dad and the boys loaded the possessions and livestock onto railroad cars and had to ride with the stock to see that they were fed and watered on the trip, while Mary, mother and the girls got to ride in a coach car.
Stopping first in Canton, the family soon found farmland in the Ridgeland area and moved there. Mary met Otis Teeter at Ridgeland when he came to town to sell produce from their farm, and the courtship began. Mary and Otis were married in 1914. She has three children (Harry 79, Catherine 76, and Kenneth 63) six grandchildren and at last count 13 great-grandchildren.

Mary has always been an inventive and resourceful person, and it cost her her job one time. During the Depression she was with the WPA in a cannery where beef from Texas was being processed by the government.
Mary's job, along with several other women, was to use teaspoons to transfer the cut-up meat from large pans to No. 2 canning cans on a conveyor line.
Mary, wanting to hurry things up, took one of the cans home that night and using tin shears cut the can in half along a diagonal line from top to bottom, then nailed a short piece of broom handle to the outside of the bottom.
With her new scoop next day she could fill a can in two scoops, many times faster than with a teaspoon.
Her supervisor soon showed up and told Mary she was filing the cans too full and too fast, and the other women didn't have any beef to put in cans, so she would have to go.
Mary went to work in the home demonstration office to show other women how to can meats, vegetables and fruit and how to use pressure cookers or cold pack canners.

Having her own Model "A" Ford, Mary was soon on the road doing her canning demonstrations throughout the county.
Mary worked for the Army Air Corps during WW II as a parachute repairer and packer, and there she developed her skills as a seamstress.
After the war Mary began to do slip covers, drapes and upholstery work and became well known in the Jackson area in the late 40s through the 70s.
Mary's greatest pastime joy was fishing, although she did enjoy gardening very much. Her children will tell you the only way to keep Mary from planting the same row more than once was to take her fishing.
Mary moved to the Gulf Coast in the late 80's, and failing health has seen her moved to the Hotel Reed Nursing Center these latter days.

Flood Relief Fund

The Mississippi Coast Chapter, American Red Cross, has opened a Flood Relief Fund at Hancock Bank to help assist victims of the recent heavy rains, floods and tornadoes striking the Mississippi Coast.
Concrete damage assessment and precise relief costs must wait until the flood waters are gone. However, early estimates show that this operation will cost the Red Cross well over $100,000. This figure is expected to increase dramatically after the waters have receded and damage assessment teams can travel to the affected areas to survey the destruction left behind by these storms.
Trained Red Cross workers arrived on the scene early Wednesday morning, distributing food, providing shelter and meeting the immediate material needs of the devastated families.
Red Cross services don't stop when the storm leaves. Red Cross workers are distributing clean-up kits that families can use to help make their homes inhabitable once again. After the immediate emergency passes, disaster workers meet one-on-one with the affected families to continue to help them return their lives to normal.
The Red Cross provides families with vouchers which they can take to local merchants to purchase the things they need most, which also helps speed the economy's recovery.

involved with the recent flooding.

The Board of Supervisors has already called for bids on a similar parking lot project in Bay St. Louis. But at a recent Supervisors' meeting, several Waveland residents, the majority of whom live in the city part-time, protested the proposed lot.

All parties, however, agree that some action must be taken to accommodate the increased beach use.

"From a safety standpoint, there is a need for additional parking," Mitchell said. "Having people cross (Beach Boulevard) is asking for an accident."

Several options were discussed, but from an economical standpoint, the parking lot makes the most sense, Mitchell said. He said other options included adding a third lane to Beach Boulevard or installing smaller parking bays along the beach.

Parking lot opponents endorse the parking bay options.

Mitchell said when the plans were originally drawn, they were not shown to Waveland officials. Therein lies the controversy, since city officials devised a master plan for the Waveland pier several years ago.

Alderman Jay Fleuriot questioned Mitchell whether the county's proposed "fit in" with the city's plan. Fleuriot suggested the parking lot be constructed perpendicular to Beach Boulevard, instead of the proposed parallel site.

However, Waveland's earlier plans call for the parking lot to be in the same site and built in the same fashion as the county proposal. The only difference is that Waveland's proposal has approximately 75 spots, instead of the county's proposed 69.

Alderman Tommy Longo called the county proposal an "opportunity to go to the rest (of the original plan) without the City of Waveland putting up any money."

"The county is developing the next phase of the plan," Longo said.

Noise

responded, suggesting the chief investigate how the city of Waveland deals with the same problem.

Waveland has a more detailed noise ordinance than Bay St. Louis, and uses decibel meters to determine violations. McNeil said he'd check with officials in Waveland on the issue.

Meanwhile, Thriffley said citizens got so frustrated with a lack of action by city police that they called the sheriff's department. He questioned what kind of statement that makes about the city's response to the problem.

Municipal Clerk Kay Johnson said it probably means nothing more than typical confusion over whom to call for various government services. Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Wednesday his office received one complaint, at 11:28 p.m. Saturday, and referred the caller to city police.

Since the county has no noise ordinance, said Peterson, the noise question is strictly a city matter.

A year ago, the city considered provisions in several suggested noise ordinances -- including Waveland's. But the consideration became bogged down when city council members pondered the ramifications of trying to control noises generated by an array of sources, including lawnmowers, go-carts and train whistles.

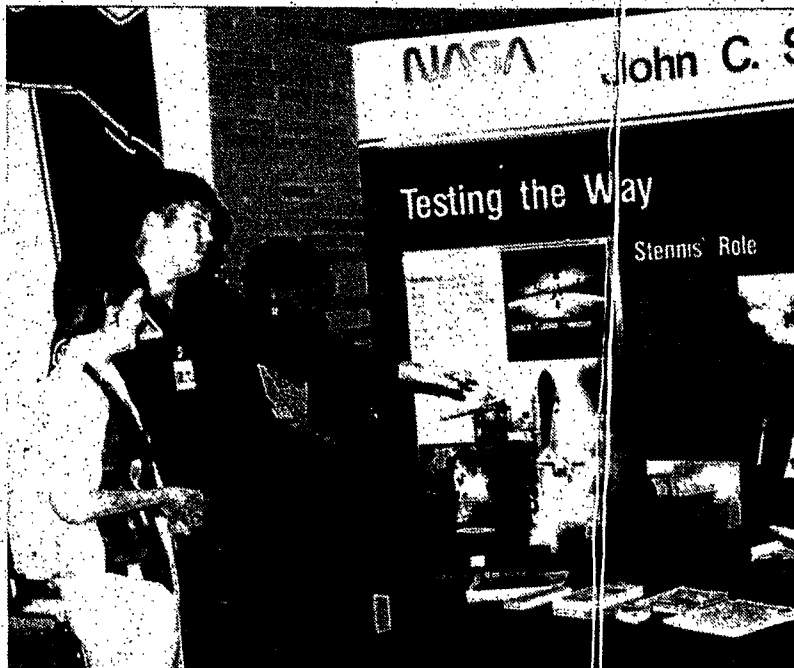

Council member Tad Black said the city needs to make the decision to buy decibel meters and train police officers to use them properly. "That's what we're going to have to do," said Black.

Black said the city had tried to make provisions for the outdoor music event, but had, in turn, been taken advantage of.

"I don't think that's proper," Tim Murphy, who obtained the permit for the event in question, was not reached for comment.

Cease and Desist Order issued on mail scam

Attorney General Mike Moore has issued a Cease and Desist Order against a New York company sending Mississippi residents official looking documents stating they have positively won a new car or cash. The documents come from a company called Adams, Dunhill, Trump & Associates, located in Bohemia, NY.

"These 'Car or Cash' promotions pop up every now and then. If you read the small print, you and about a million other people share the guaranteed second prize of $10,000. It goes on to say you are guaranteed no less than $.68," said Moore.

"We think this is highly deceptive because the letter implies you are guaranteed a car or $15,000. What they really want you to do is sent them $22.87 for shipping and handling for some products worth a fraction of that," explained Moore.

The Attorney General's Office is warning people not to fall for this type of scam.

"The documents may look fancy, but they are not legal documents in any way, shape or form. The best place for mail like this is in the trash," said Moore.

The Attorney General said that one of the chief problems in putting such firms out of business is the average person's reluctance to admit when he or she has been defrauded.

Anyone who sent money to this company or any other similar promotion, no matter how small the amount, should contact the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection.

"Most of us have been taken by a con artist at one time or another, so there is no shame in reporting the details," Moore said. "We frequently see cases in which individuals have been defrauded several times before seeking help from us."

Consumers may report these types of scams to the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection. The address is P.O. Box 22947, Jackson, MS 39225. Consumers are urged to call for a complaint form first at 800-281-4418.

School day rescheduled

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District has designated May 29 as a make-up day.

The day will make up for May 10 when school was cancelled because of area flooding. The State Board of Education said that day must be made up.

On May 29, school will begin and end at the regular time, and transportation will be as usual, school officials said.

Project

finalized plans for a 700-foot project extending from Bay View Court towards the bridge.

The stretch has no seawall to avert erosion.

At this point, plans and specifications for the "emergency" project are almost finalized, said John Grandison project manager for the Corps.

The plans call for constructing an interlocking concrete block structure to guard the shore.

Some property owners in the affected area have objected to the Corps' plans, while others support the idea. Erosion in the area at issue has been dramatic in recent years, leaving less and less distance between the water and the roadway.

The Corps and city officials contend the project is a necessity to prevent erosion of the waterfront from reaching Beach Boulevard, and causing its ultimate collapse.

Grandison said Corps officials want to award the contract for that project's construction by the end of September.

In unrelated action Tuesday, City Council agreed to call for bids on restoration of the former CSX depot -- a project to be funded primarily by a federal grant.

Plans and specifications for that project were recently cleared by federal and state officials who have oversight on the project. Officials hope to have the restoration complete by the end of the year.

Cheerleader

The current handbook, which Tisdale said should have been used, because at this point it is still applicable, calls for a 16-member squad consisting of three members from each grade and four at large members.

By a quirk of fate, and a lot of luck, Tisdale's simplistic proposal was acceptable Tuesday. Of the 12 selected, three were freshmen and three were sophomores, which met the criteria for those two grades. Two juniors were selected, leaving that slot to be filled. However, only one other junior tried out, meaning she will automatically fill that position.

Only one senior is a member of the original 12, but no other seniors tried out, meaning the squad will be 15 instead of 16.

The end result is that the girls who had previously tried out will compete again, vying for one spot.

Tisdale said the rating sheets from the first tryouts were destroyed, by his direction, since it appeared at first the process was going to be ruled invalid.

Gambling survey shows majority of U.S. adults have placed their bets

Gambling may be the new U.S. pastime, according to a gaming survey recently completed by Mississippi State University.

More than 61 percent of American adults wagered in one or more types of legalized gambling last year, said Arthur G. Cosby of the Gaming Research Group, a part of the university's Social Science Research Center.

The research group conducted the 1995 United States Survey of Gaming and Gambling in February and March. In telephone interviews, they surveyed a random sample of more than 1,500 American adults, with a sampling error of plus or minus 2.5 percent.

"We knew that gambling has become a growth industry," Cosby said. "Most states have approved either lottery or casino gambling to raise tax revenue or to encourage economic development. Our survey documents just how dramatic that growth is."

Researchers learned that more than 118 million Americans said they had wagered last year in one or more types of legalized gambling. The interviews focused on four types of legalized gambling: lotteries, casinos, horse and dog tracks and bingo.

While the numbers seem high, social scientists say 61 percent probably is a conservative percentage. "That number probably underestimates the actual gambling rate because it ignores all forms of illegal gambling, such as most sports betting, as well as some legal forms such as jai alai and poker parlors," said William Thompson, a gaming research group team member and professor at the University of Nevada at Las Vegas.

The survey showed that those who participate in gambling have clear preferences. "Lotteries and casinos are leading the way," Cosby noted.

He said that 54 percent of Americans bet at least one time in state-run lotteries in 1994. For many, lottery wagers are more frequent. About 21 percent of Americans wager in lotteries each week and about 35 percent make lottery wagers each month. Casino gambling was the next most popular, with gambling rates of 24 percent.

"While lotteries and casinos are experiencing rapid growth and high participation rates, horse and dog track wagers may be declining," he reported. "Only about 8 percent said they wagered on either horse or dog racing during the year and fewer than 1 percent said they wagered weekly." Bingo rates were about 7 percent.

Participation rates reflect the increased availability of legalized gaming activities, Cosby said. There were no legalized state lotteries before 1963 and Nevada was the United States' only legal casino jurisdiction before 1978.

Today, there are lotteries in more than 30 states, including highly populated areas such as California, New York, Texas and Florida. Land-based, dock-side or riverboat casinos have been approved in 10 states. In addition, reservation (Native American-sponsored) casinos are in more than 20 states.

"The growth of legalized gambling has been dramatic, with accompanying growth in participation," Cosby said.

Gaming attracts participants in each region of the country, he said. "The Northeast, Midwest and West all had gambling rates that ranged between 64 and 68 percent. Only in the Southeast, with its tradition of social and religious conservatism, were the rates significantly less."

Still, a majority of southern adults — some 54 percent — reported gambling during the past year, Cosby said. "It will be interesting to see if regional differences continue with legalized gambling expanding to other Southern states."

Gaming also cuts across demographic lines, Cosby said. Among the findings:

- In nearly all age groups, a majority reported gambling in the past year.

- Only in the over-70 age group, at 37 percent, did the rate fall below 50 percent.

- Baby boomers reported the highest gambling rates.

- Gambling is pervasive across education levels, but the poorly educated reported gambling less.

- Men gamble more than women and white gamble more than nonwhites.

For each grouping, though, a majority of respondents reported gambling. "What once was considered immoral, forbidden and illegal by many Americans now apparently not only is available — it is acceptable, legally sanctioned and very popular," Cosby concluded.

The Gaming Research Group was formed in 1995 to promote scientific and scholarly study of gaming and gambling. The 1995 survey was the first major research undertaking.

Group members are Cosby, Wolfgang Frese and Liesel Miller of Mississippi State; Thompson and James Frey at the University of Nevada at Las Vegas; and Charles Smith at the University of Mississippi.

MDB, Ltd. wins state soccer title

Bay Area Youth Soccer (BAYS) Under-14 boys soccer team, MDB, Ltd. won the Division II Mississippi Youth Soccer Association American Cup State Championship last weekend in Jackson.

They won all four games they participated in by a combined score of 23-4. This is the second state championship won by this team in the last three years, winning the U-12 title in 1993.

The first game of bracket play was against the Greenville Fever which MDB, Ltd. won 3-1. Forward Justin Wadsworth had two goals on assists from midfielder Dusty Carver, and midfielder Kile Foster had one goal on an assist from forward Jason Rieben.

Game two against Northwest Rankin Blitz was won by a score of 8-1 with goals scored by Foster (2), Carver (2), Wadsworth, forward Jonathan Gagnon, Rieben, and midfielder Kyle Kidd. Assists were from Rieben (2) and fullback Nick Middleton who brought the ball up from the defensive end and executed a beautiful cross that was finished by Wadsworth.

Game three was played Sunday morning against the Tupelo Hurricanes, and this time MDB, Ltd. pitched a shutout, winning 9-0. Goals came from Wadsworth (3), Rieben (2), Foster, midfielder John Rich and assists from Wadsworth (2) and midfielder Kyle Kidd.

The defense again contributed to the offensive production with goals scored by Middleton, a perfect chip shot by fullback Ronnie Vanney and assists from fullbacks Brandon Everett, Jay Saucier and Middleton. The shutout was protected by keeper Steven Boudro. The team finished bracket play with 28 points, the highest total by any team in the division.

The championship game was played Sunday afternoon against the Greenville Raiders who MDB, Ltd. had defeated in the fall season 4-0. This game proved to be a more closely contested match.

The Raiders drew first blood scoring in the opening period, but MDB, Ltd. came back in the second period on a perfectly executed corner kick from Foster that was headed in by Wadsworth.

At half-time the score was knotted at 1-1 and the defensive battle continued until MDB, Ltd. scored in the fourth period on a booming shot by Carver off a drop pass assist from Rieben.

It looked as if MDB, Ltd. was on the way to a victory celebration when with 45 seconds left in regulation, Greenville was awarded a direct free kick.

The ball slipped into the net just past the outstretched arms of keeper Boudro. The game then went into overtime with MDB, Ltd. scoring on a penalty kick by Rieben after a foul in the penalty area.

This time the defense held under tremendous pressure from the Raiders with outstanding individual defensive plays made by Everett, Gagnon, Middleton, Vanney and Boudro. The overtime period ended in MDB, Ltd.'s favor 1-0, and the celebration began.

Coach Art Rieben commented after the game, "Our goal in the beginning of the season was to win the state championship, and these young men accomplished that."

"I am extremely proud of their effort and dedication to attaining that goal. They represented themselves, their families and their community well and we should all be very proud of them and their accomplishments."

"The heat was oppressive out here today, and our boys were exhausted, but they reached inside themselves for an inner reserve that carried them to victory."

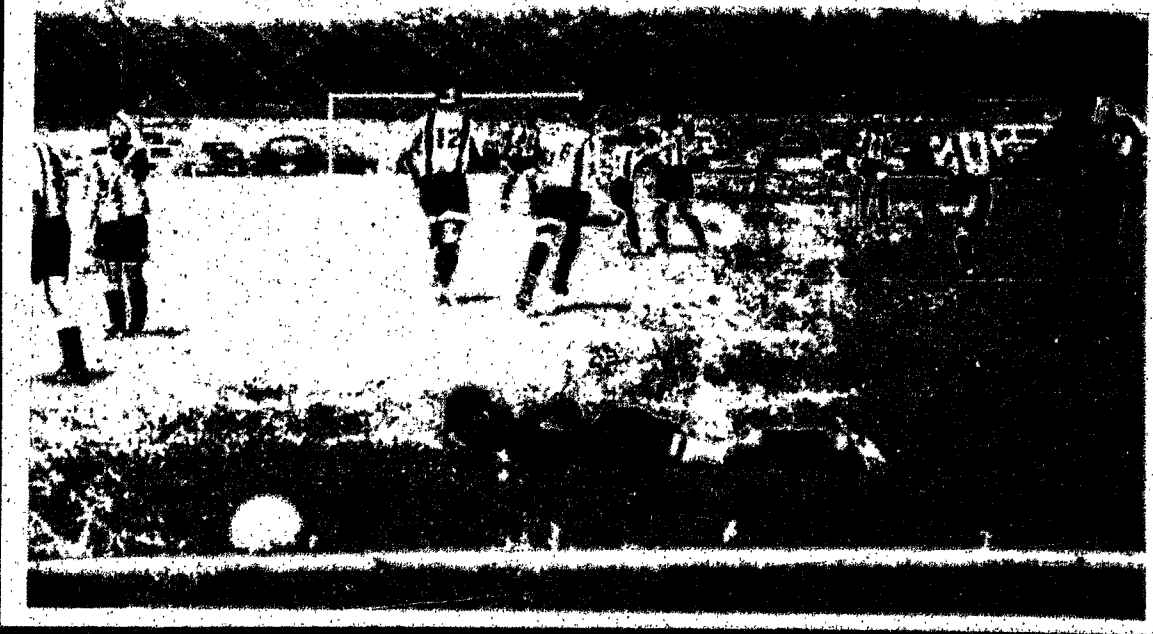

Added assistant coach Pat Rich, "I was especially proud of the defense. Fullbacks Everett, Middleton, Vanney, Ed Flores and keeper Boudro have done an outstanding job all year, and in this game Greenville had a lot of speed that put tremendous pressure on our fullbacks. The fullbacks also initiate our offense and indirectly lead to many of our goals being scored."

1995 OLA Track & Field:

Dream season and a piece of history

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Our Lady Academy Crescents track team has done nothing all year except etch their place in history. The OLA cinderella season came to a close on Saturday, May 15, 1995 at Hughes Field in Jackson but not without raising a few eyebrows.

After a strong showing at the South State Championships last week, the Crescents were poised to have a good showing at the State Track Meet in Jackson. And a good showing they had.

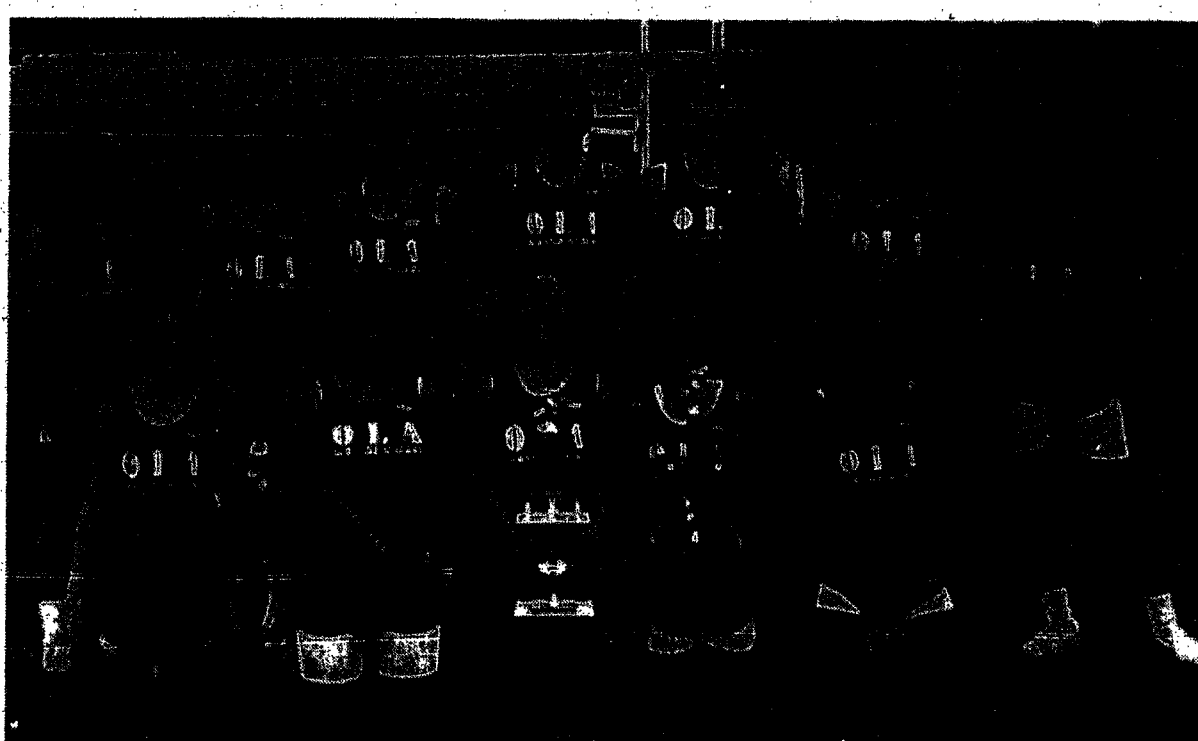

OLA placed fourth with 47 points in a competition where 27 teams were represented. The Crescents finished one point behind St. Andrews of Jackson. Shaw High School won the girls 2A state championship with 57 points and Hinds County placed second with 55 points.

It was tight race and for a period of time the Crescents were in the team lead thanks to the brilliant performances of its athletes.

OLA began its 'dream season' with a win at the Gulf Coast Conference Championships held at SSC early in the season. On March 24, OLA captured the Division 8 Class 2A championship at St. Martin High School outdistancing the second place team by 55 points. Next, OLA made a powerful run at the South State Championship finishing a close second to Hinds County by four points.

At the South State meet, OLA and Hinds County flipped the lead numerous times and were tied with 70 points going into the final event which proved to be the difference.

Seniors Amy Jones and Amie Geary have been a part of the team since the seventh grade and say that their greatest

Cinderella season

achievement was winning the district championship this year.

Senior Jenny Madden, and 800m runner, stated, "The best thing about being on this team is that we made history and we have such a talented team."

The seniors leave behind leadership and a challenge for the younger runners to follow in their footsteps.

A lot of the younger runners see a bright future for OLA track if they all stay together and commit to becoming better. Missy McPhail, a state champion in the 3200m run, stated, "We need to work hard to beat Hinds County and make a run at state next year and that is the goal I'm setting for next year."

Elizabeth Soroe, a high jumper, stated, "I plan to work hard to succeed in my event and be able to win points for my team."

As a whole the team narrows down the keys to success for next year to "practice, recruit more people to run on the team, and create a more positive attitude to running and winning."

As for the state meet, OLA freshman Missy McPhail became the first Crescent to become a state champion in track and field a little after 10:27 am with a victory in the 3200m run. She set a personal best of 12:46.5s. Then, about 2:20pm, McPhail placed second in the 1600m run while senior Amie Geary placed fifth in the state. Senior Amy Jones placed seventh in the state in the 100m hurdles and sixth in the state in the 300m hurdles.

Earlier in the day, Nina Crain placed sixth in the state as an eighth grader in the long jump with a leap of 15'3" and fourth in the 300m hurdles.

The 800m relay team of Andie Fillingame, Shalon Bradley, Kristen Cannon, and Leslie Esher placed eighth in the state. Later, Leslie Esher became OLA's second state champion with a victory in the 400m and a time of 1:03.6s.

Coach Harry Hull commented, "I haven't brought more than two girls to the state meet before let alone have two state champions in one day. This is truly a special team and the best that I've been around. They worked hard and deserve it all."

OLA loses seniors Amie Geary, Amy Jones, Jenny Madden, and Shalon Bradley. However, they return a core nucleus of eighth and ninth graders next year that could prove to be dominant in the future. There is more light at the end of the tunnel for OLA track and it seems that the light for the other 2A track teams in the district is becoming dull.

Now the time comes for the season to end and summer to begin. The girls will go their own ways for the summer and begin to train on their own. The athletes will return next year with the attempt to write their names in history, but for now nothing could be finer than to end the story here for a while.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Trout, shrimp and oysters

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Well, fishing buddies, after the "little bit" of rain we got last week, the best place to fish could be in the streets of Hancock County.

From the fishing reports I have received, the waters are so muddy that the one of the only places fish can be found is in the fish case at Sav-A-Center.

Several reports did come in of some trout in the three-pound range being caught out by Flat Boat Key by Tommy Kidd. Other than that the fishing has been bad to poor.

Since there is little to report about catching fish, I am gonna devote the rest of this column to a report on the Commission on Marine Resources meeting May 16.

The Commission voted to give the executive director the authority to open the shrimp season as soon as samples show the shrimp have reached 68 to the pound. The shrimp season has suffered a setback due to the recent rains.

Members of the staff have been unable to catch enough shrimp in sample trawls to make an accurate count. One 30-minute sample in the Pass Marianne area yielded "one shrimp." There is the possibility that the shrimp will not be large enough to open the season until sometime around the middle of June.

On a related issue, the Commission passed an ordinance which will prohibit the use of BIB trawls in Mississippi waters from January 1 to the third Monday in August. The Commission felt the use of BIB trawls during the brown shrimp season has contributed to the excessive depletion of white shrimp by catching the egg-carrying white shrimp as they were coming in to spawn.

For those folks who don't know what a BIB trawl looks like, the best way I know how to describe the contraption is, it is an extra piece of webbing that is added to the top front cork line of a standard trawl. The BIB extension allows the trawl to sweep the water column from bottom to top. It is a very efficient harvesting device that is said to have been imported from Vietnam.

The Department of Marine Resources has a new director of Saltwater Fisheries, Dr. Fred Deegen PhD. After the shenanigans of the previous director, the new director is like a sign from heaven. We are finally blessed with a person who is imminently qualified by both education and temperament to lead this vital department.

Dr. Deegen released information on speckled trout studies begun in 1977 and concluded by the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources in 1993 that I don't recall the previous director bringing forward at any public hearings.

There are some missing years in the study data, but the data shows "a dramatic decline in the recreational catch of speckled trout per unit of effort for the past 15 years."

All previous data I have seen presented by the previous director indicated the trout population was not overfished.

Dr. Deegen went on to show that the study indicated the majority of recreational fishermen (90%) catch five or fewer trout per trip. And 20% of the trout caught are under 14 inches. There will probably be a move in the future to eliminate the provision of allowing five trout of the creel limit to be between 12 and 14 inches and only trout 14 inches or longer will be allowed. There will also probably be a decrease in the creel limit from the present 25 trout to a lower number, possibly 15 per day.

The Nation Seashore Island are now closed to all commercial fishing and there will probably be a ban on recreational shrimp trawling around these islands in the near future.

The Commission discussed the possibility of closing all waters within one mile of the barrier islands to commercial fishing. An attorney representing the commercial fishermen stated the Commission would face potential legal action from group if the Commission closed the barrier islands to commercial fishing. The closure will go to public hearing in the near future.

Oyster season will be extended to June 20. However certain reefs deemed to be sufficiently harvested will be closed. It is recommended anyone oyster fishing check with the department as to which reefs are open to harvesting.

Commissioner Oliver Shauque brought up an interesting fact that all boaters should be aware of: Boaters are legally liable for any damage they cause from the wake they create with their boat. If you cause damage to another's property from your boat wake you must pay for the damage caused.

Before I close out this week I gotta say it is refreshing to see the new professionalism at DMR. I have never hesitated to blast what I felt were the shenanigans of the old BMR, so the high level of professionalism of people like the new executive director, Glade Woods, and the new chief of Saltwater Fisheries, Dr. Deegen, should make us all feel good about the management of our marine resources.

This week's wonderful wise words: Watch your wake or pay the price.

Do you think we will get spring fishing conditions before August, Turtle?

Nereids sponsors second annual fishing tournament

Special to the Echo Spring is here and that means good fishing.

The Krewe of Nereids invites anglers of all ages to participate in their second annual Fishing Tournament Saturday and Sunday, May 27-28. Entries may be picked up at Daddy O's or Lil' Ray's. This year there aren't any restrictions where you fish, fresh or saltwater.

Go fishing in the place of your choice — creeks, piers, seawall, boat, river or deep sea. Complete details are on the entry form.

Friday night there will be a crawfish boil and blackened or fried fish on Sunday at the weigh-in party. Both events feature live music.

The tournament entry fee of $30 includes the crawfish boil. All events will take place on the patio under the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Guests can participate in the pre-tournament fun and food on Friday, if not fishing, for $5 in advance.

On Sunday, the freshest of fish dinners will be offered for $5 a plate.

"This is a fund-raiser for the Krewe of Nereids which sponsors the Nereids Carnival parade each year," said Tommy Kidd, one of the organizers. "We hope that anglers of all ages and levels of experience will come out and fish to win."

Prizes in the freshwater category will be for the largest bass and the largest bream. Saltwater categories include speckled trout, redfish, flounder, cobia, red snapper and Spanish mackerel.

Opportunities to compete are endless:

- The largest fish in each of the categories;
- The total weight of fish in each of the categories;
- The most pounds of fish caught in the most categories;
- The largest fish not in any of the categories.

Tournament organizers Chuck Breath, Bill Whitfield, Allen Koskan and Kidd have secured the services of an official weighmaster, George Wright, with certified scales for the weigh-in.

These men, also renowned for their culinary skills, will doff their fishing hats for chefs' attire for the seafood feasts on Friday night and Sunday.

Deadline for entering the tournament is 8 p.m. Friday, May 26.

State soccer tournament

The Bay Bombers, champions of the Bay Area Youth Soccer League, under-10 division, finished sixth in the state soccer tournament last weekend in Clinton. The Bombers rebounded from opening day losses to claim a 1-0 victory in their final game, ending their season with a win. Team members are Jeremy Boelte, Austin Boud-

Wildcats finish fourth in tournament

After being shut out 2-0 Thursday, the Pearl River Community College bats finally came alive in the National Region 23 Tournament this weekend.

The Wildcats scored 23 runs in two games, but still came home early on Saturday. Pearl River eliminated East Mississippi on Friday with a 13-5 slugfest, but came up short 13-10 against Gulf Coast on Saturday.

The Wildcats, 25-26 on the year, finished fourth in Region 23. Last year the Wildcats were third. Mississippi Delta eventually won the tournament with host Meridian second and Gulf Coast third.

On Saturday the Wildcats rallied three times to go ahead or pull even only to have the Bulldogs break a 10-10 tie and score three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

The game featured 31 hits, including 17 for extra bases: eight home runs, two triples and seven doubles.

PRCC erased a 1-0 deficit with five runs in the third inning. Back-to-back solo home runs by Adam Breerwood and Bryan Pierce started the rally and consecutive doubles by Antoine Ford, John Bishop and Scott Reid added three more runs.

But the Bulldogs scored three runs in the bottom of the inning and added another in the fourth for an 8-5 lead. The Wildcats tied the game in the fifth with Armond Anderson hitting a two-run homer.

Gulf Coast went up 10-8 in the sixth, but PRC rallied one last time for a pair of runs in the seventh. The Bulldogs came back in the bottom of the seventh and the Wildcats could not answer in the last two innings.

Against East Mississippi Ford hit two home runs, a triple and a single as the Wildcats defeated East Mississippi 13-5.

A former Hattiesburg High School standout, Ford drove in two runs as the Wildcats bounced back from an early 4-0 deficit.

Also for the Wildcats, Scotty Hartfield had a double and triple and two runs batted in. Armond Anderson had a double, two singles and two RBIs, John Bishop hit a single and double for two RBIs and Michael Draughn hit two singles.

East Mississippi went up 4-0 but Pearl River tied the game 4-4 in the third inning and went ahead 6-5 in the fourth and 11-5 in the seventh.

Thursday night against Meridian, the Wildcats gave up two runs in the first inning and then played great baseball only to lose 2-0.

Sophomore Chad Britt held the Eagles scoreless for the remaining eight innings. The Wildcats left eight men on base.

"I'm proud of this team," said PRCC Coach Jim Nightengale. "They played hard, and I think we demonstrated we can play with the best teams in 1995."

Nightengale thanked his sophomores and said he would certainly miss them.

Several of the Wildcats are expected to sign with senior colleges over the next few days.

BALLOT LANGUAGE FOR PROPOSED INITIATIVE MEASURE, SERIAL NUMBER 6

State law permits citizens to propose amendments to the Mississippi Constitution through the initiative process. Before the sponsors of an initiative begin their petition drives, the Secretary of State's office is required to publish the ballot title and ballot summary of the proposed initiative in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation throughout the state. References: Section 273, Mississippi Constitution of 1890, Miss. Code Ann. Sections 23-17-1 through 23-17-61.
